3. What idea or mood does the site create through its use of elements and principles? How does the site make you feel? Does it stimulate your interest or imagination?

4. Do you think the website is successful or unsuccessful as an artistic design? Explain your answer. What improvements would you suggest?

Now that you have critiqued these web sites, use your experience to help you to design your own personal web page on paper. The focus of the page should be on you and your interests, hobbies, or talents. Add whatever images and design elements you like, in whatever way you like. Just keep in mind that a successful design will take into careful consideration the use of the elements and principles of art. Use a large piece of construction paper or cardboard for the background, and attach photos, images, or drawings of your choice. For the text, be sure to create a letter design as well. Once you have completed your web page, ask your classmates to critique it.
