Chapter 4 – Consumer Purchasing Strategies and Legal Protection

1. Have the students research the current rate of inflation in your state and the United States. Then, have them choose a foreign country and research its rate of inflation. Ask them to compare their findings and explain why they might be similar or different.
2. Ask students, “What large purchase might you make in the next ten years?” Have them research how much the same or a similar product cost five years ago, one year ago, and today.
