

Guidelines for Selecting Portfolio Pieces

The portfolio you create will allow your parents or guardians to view some of the work of which you are most proud as well as pieces that have helped you learn an important concept or skill. Your parents or guardians will be interested in hearing about and examining your portfolio, so give thought to the choices you make.

To assist you in selecting work, please follow these guidelines:

1. Select one of your favorite _____.

What aspect(s) of this assignment made it your favorite piece of this type of work?

2. Select an assignment that seemed difficult at first, but that you eventually completed successfully.

How did you overcome your initial feelings about this assignment?

3. Select a piece that demonstrates your understanding of _____.

How does this assignment show your knowledge of this concept or skill?

4. Select an assignment that demonstrates your problem-solving skills.

What skills did you use to work through this problem?
